The inclement weather of last Thursday and Friday prevented many last week to do their Christmas shopping. Saturday's improvement in the weather conditions crowded the town and all the stores were busy.

Albert Reid, an employee of the Belgrade mill, fell from a platform last week and was instantly and fell, crushing his forehead and breaking his neck.

With the exception of the racket created by the small boy with the toy cannon and fire crackers Christmas passed off very quietly in Potosi.
The bright, mild weather brought the people outdoors to enjoy a drive or walk. There was feasting and good cheer in nearly every home.
A paper in an adjoining town, describing a local social function, said:
"Christmas was tastefully celebrated with smiling and handsomely dressed women, and amply deserving up with interest." The whole trouble was caused by placing a cannon after the word, "women." Instead of after "men."
On Dec. 2nd, the voters of the Potosi city school district voted unanimously to issue bonds to erect a new high school building. Perhaps this is the first time in the history of the state when every voter in the district favored such a proposition. Certainly interest in high schools has increased.

to pay the printer. Mr. Johnson has been shipping stock extensively the senger run on the main line, has accepted the passenger run on the "City" branch and will move his family to can commend them to the good people of Potosi, and our best wishes to them.—De Soto Press.

There are about 250 post offices in the state of Missouri. The one with the shortest name is Hy, in Oregon county. Two are tied for the distinction of the longest names; they are Portage Des Sioux, in St. Charles county, and Bourke a Renault, in Washington county. Atchison county has fewer offices than any other county, having but nine. Texas county has the greatest number, fifty-eight.—EX.
The team of his iron greys the Post Grain Co. uses on one of its delivery wagons ran away through town last Wednesday morning. They upset the wagon in front of Frey's butcher shop.
As the runaway passed Belmont & Best's store they were joined in the merry chase by the delivery horse of that establishment. The latter did not run far, however, before it was stopped.
The greys were also corralled in the west part of town. A broken set of harness and a slightly damaged wagon were the net results of the escape.
An audience which tested the capacity, seating and standing-room, of the Presbyterian church, attended the Christmas exercises of the Sunday school of that church on last Monday evening. The songs were well rendered and the little ones who participated in the program all did well. A large Christmas tree had been beautifully decorated and lighted for the occasion. Each member of the school as well as the teachers, were remembered with a gift, and there was candy and oranges for every child present. Mr. J. E. Evans the superintendent of the school, was surprised by the teachers and scholars with the gift of a fine gold watch-chain and musical charms. Taking it all around, it was one of the most successful and enjoyable Sunday school Christmas celebrations ever held in Potosi.

In the case of the people of the state against Emory Grubb and Willie Asher, on a charge of grand larceny, which was given a hearing in the Potosi circuit court last week, the jury on Saturday returned a verdict of guilty and Grubb was sentenced to four years and Asher to two years in the penitentiary. The defendants were charged with having cut the barbed wire fence around the pasture of the Silgo Furnace Company and removing therefrom some 40 head of cattle. A number of Cuba citizens were witnesses in the case, summoned in an effort to impeach the state's star witness, who was formerly a resident of this place.
